Introduction to SMART Solutions

The Association of Early Childhood and Training Services (ASSETS) in collaboration with ECDA and the Infocomm Development Authority of Singapore (IDA) had called for proposals for smart IT solutions to aid pre-schools in their day-to-day processes and streamline administrative duties for educators. The intended objective of these solutions is to enable preschools to move away from the conventional way of doing things to adopting technology-based solutions to improve productivity.

Selection Criteria

The solutions were assessed based on the following criteria. The solutions should:

a) Improve productivity in preschools;

b) Be affordable and provide value for money;

c) Be able to integrate with ECDA's systems;

d) Be easy to navigate and use; and

e) Be Future-Ready (e.g. be able to support future technological advancements).
